

To stop loggers cutting down trees in rainforests

To all the 'loggers' out there, I just want to say that you need to stop cutting down lots of trees because it is ruining our rainforests! There are lots of different types of birds that live in the rainforests in south america that are becoming extinct because of logging.

The Harpy eagle, one of the biggest eagles, lives in the rainforests and its home is getting smaller and smaller because of logging as well as nesting sites being destroyed because of other industries like mining and drilling.

So if you continue to cut trees down please plant new ones so our rainforests can continue to grow.

Thank you :)

Isobelle Andre Ferguson